SOS SHIP VANISHES WITHOUT ANY CLUE

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 3 (AP)—Ships and aircraft speeding on a rescue mission off the lower Florida east coast found no trace today of a mystery ship which sent out a fantastic series of distress messages during the night.

Coast Guard officials at Jacksonville declared the whole incident "stinks," citing many discrepancies in the overnight messages, but said they must continue their search.

Other sources also expressed a belief the signals might be a hoax, perpetrated by some amateur. Direction finders failed to locate the position from which the messages were sent because the signals were too erratic. Vigilance, however, was not relaxed.

A plane from the Miami coast guard base scanned calm seas for more than three hours in the vicinity of Key West—one of four positions given by the unidentified radio operator who reported his vessel afire and sinking.

Various commercial and Coast Guard radio stations received the name of the ship repeatedly as Dunkwa, but the only vessel registered by that name, a British oil tanker, was reported at Rotterdam.

HALTS AIR SEARCH

Lieutenant V. O. Johnson, pilot of the Coast Guard plane, said he had discovered nothing to indicate whether the frequently incoherent messages were based on fact or fancy.

The first of several rescue ships to reach the last position reported was the fruit steamer Ceira. Her master radioed that he found no sign of a ship in distress but was continuing the search in the Bahamas.

Early today the sender of the SOS said the crew had taken to lifeboats and the craft was sinking 90 miles southwest of Miami.

"MEN, WOMAN LOST

"No lives were lost except the second mate who is the regular wireless operator," he reported in what he said was a final message.

This report, at 5 a. m., said "abandoning ship now."

One of the messages reported 38 persons, one a woman, "went down." The sender ended this with the words: "Okay, big boy."

After transmitting in English for hours, the operator told Radiomarine at Lake Worth, Fla., "Don't speak English."

"Eighteen days out of Calcutta and 40 miles south of Hialeah, Fla.," he laboriously tapped out in another message.

"Will sink in two hours," he said near the end of his long period on the air. "Ten inches of water in my room."

THREAT OF ARREST IN BREAKAGE ROW

Balked in his effort to cash a $2 show ticket, John L. Feeney, of Cambridge, threatened today to seek the arrest of Suffolk Downs officials on charges of larceny.

Meanwhile, despite an opinion of the Supreme Court last Friday that horse and dog tracks had been computing "breakage" illegally in paying off bets, dog courses at Revere and Dighton were continuing to "break" under the customary system.

Since last Friday night, the date of the ruling, the Revere track has handled $817,930 while the course at Dighton has handled $383,803—a total of $1,211,752 in five days.

PLANS TO ASK WARRANTS

This action was based on an order of Chairman Charles F. Connors of the State Racing Commission, who is awaiting an advisory opinion from Atty.-Gen. Paul A. Dever on his procedure under the court decision.

At Dever's office, Asst. Atty. Gen. Roger Clapp said the opinion had not yet been written but would probably be forthcoming some time next week.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 3 (AP)—A movement for expropriation of the huge United States-owned El Potrero Sugar property in Vera Cruz state was said by reliable sources today to be underway, but officials declined to give confirmation.

Farm workers on the great Potrero plantation were reported to have completed filing applications for expropriation of the entire 8,750 acres remaining of the property which once covered 11,225 acres.

LaGuardia Urges Fair Fee Cut for Reliefers

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—A proposal to admit low income New Yorkers, including relief recipients and WPA workers, to the New York World's Fair at special bargain rates has been advanced by Mayor LaGuardia.

He said he submitted the scheme to fair officials in May and a decision was expected "soon." He would give no details.

Britain Believes There'll Be No War, Says Inskip

LONDON, Aug. 3 (INS)—Sir Thomas Inskip, secretary of state for dominion affairs, in a speech today at Oban, said the government had "very good reasons" for believing war in Europe is unlikely at present.

MILLIONS MORE ASKED BY BEAL

With the state public works department reorganized under a Republican head and in the wake of the discharge of 600 Democratic maintenance employes, Gov. Saltonstall said today that an additional "several millions of dollars" would be needed to carry on the work.

Although the governor declined to state how much newly-appointed Public Works Commr. John W. Beal had requested, it was learned that the appropriation for this and next year would total over $5,000,000 more than the ordinary funds for the department.

The governor's announcement came after conference with Beal, who recently replaced the ousted William F. Callahan.

Senate President Joseph R. Cotton and Speaker Christian A. Herter also were at the conference.

NEEDS MILLIONS MORE

The Governor disclosed that Beal hid informed of a "striking lack of funds" for carrying on the work of the maintenance department, the same from which 600 employes have just been fired.

Of the appropriation of $3,600,000, due to last until November 30, only $258,000 remains, the Governor said Beal told him.

Beal, he added, suggested that he recommend appropriation of an additional "several millions" in his supplementary budget.

The governor said he did not care to disclose the exact figure as he was still in doubt as to the amount that he would ask the legislature to appropriate for the department's maintenance work.

300 MORE FACE AXE

The total appropriation would be for maintenance work for the remainder of this year and for 1940, the governor said.

In addition to the 600 employes discharged from the maintenance department, a number of engineers, estimated at about 300, are scheduled to be fired.

Many of those who were discharged, visited the governor's office yesterday, pleading to be retained in their jobs.

They were told at that time that the reason for the discharges was "lack of funds" and some hope was held out to them that they might be returned to work, if sufficient money was forthcoming.

Find Clue in Hunt For 'Lucky Eileen'

Where is Eileen? . . . Twenty-four hours of frantic search have been under way since an invitation was received from Linda Ware, Hollywood's latest child wonder star—a former orphan herself—to an unidentified Boston girl who, child-like, poured out her heart in a letter to the little film player.

Twenty-four hours have passed and no definite trace has yet been found of that girl who, in writing, signed herself only "Eileen."

Last night, however, a social welfare agency reported that they believe they have located her. What they said is not repeated here because of the possibility of a mistake—and it would never do to raise up the hopes of the little orphan, whoever she is, only to dash them again.

Reporters and investigators for the welfare organization will go this afternoon, however, to the place where she may be found, carrying with them the copy of the letter received by Linda in Hollywood with its signature, and, if she is the one, the happy news will be told to her.

And it is happy news!

WONDER TRIP WAITS

Details of just what is in store for her were received by this newspaper from Hollywood last night.

She and a chaperone are to go to Hollywood, with all expenses paid, for four glorious days in the film capital.

They will board an excess-fare, de luxe train here, and will be given the best accomodations that money can buy. They will be met in Hollywood by Linda, and taken to the best hotel there. Then, during the four days, they will be shown everything there is to be seen at the Paramount studio, will be guests at a studio tea, and will be taken to Catalina Island.

The high spot of the trip will be the premier of Linda's first picture—and she's a star in her own right on her first appearance before the camera—at the famous Cathay Circle Theater in Hollywood.

OTHER TREATS IN STORE

The picture is "The Star Maker," and Linda is appearing in it opposite to Bing Crosby. It is a story, incidentally, woven around the amazing career of Gus Edwards, who, over the years and

HOUSING PROJECT CUTS OFF WATER

Victim of the impersonal efficiency of the Federal Housing Authority, a 48-year-old gray-haired Charlestown registered nurse has had no water in her home for 10 days, it was revealed today.

Living alone in an apartment in Corey street in a building that is being torn down to make way for the Charlestown housing project, Miss Ruby Nickerson is obliged to carry water to her home from a public drinking fountain in Hayes square, 300 feet away.

"The first I knew about all this," she said today, "was when I went to my kitchen faucet a week ago Tuesday, only to find there was no water.

"I never had any notification that was going to happen. When the government took over the property some months ago I was notified, and then, on July 25—the day the water stopped—a man from the housing authority told me the government would like me out as soon as possible. I said a week and he said that would be all right.

"That afternoon the wreckers took out the water pipes and ever since I've had to walk down three flights of stairs with two pails, walk over to Hayes Square and back with my water."

She has appealed to housing headquarters several times, and each time has been promised relief, Miss Nickerson said.

SUSAN HAYWARD HERE, MAPS FIGHT IN $100,000 SUIT

Beautiful, 22-year-old Susan Hayward, latest screen discovery, came to Boston today to attend a reception in her honor for her role opposite Gary Cooper in the picture "Beau Geste"—but not before she was handed a summons in a $100,000 suit charging breach of contract.

Her legal difficulties popped up in New York City, where unsuspecting Susan attended the opening of the same picture and then decided to drop into the office of Walter Thornton, an old friend, to say hello. Thornton conducts a bureau for models.

Walter was not in at the time—in fact, he was then in the office of his attorney, Francis Upham. But when his secretary phoned Thornton about the beautiful visitor, Walter and Upham made a dash to the bureau.

Beaming in delight as they met once again, Susan and Walter shook hands enthusiastically. And then the beams turned to stares.

For Thornton had placed a paper in Susan's hand—the summons in the $100,000 suit.

"It's a fight," said Thornton.

"It's a fight," echoed Susan.

After they shook hands in farewell, Walter said in mornful tones:

"I wished it had been anyone else, but it was the only thing I could do. I made her famous. When she left for Hollywood, on a contract I got her with Selznick, she kissed us all goodbye at the train—and cried—and then proceeded to forget all about us!"

Thornton explained that the $100,000 is 10 per cent of the million dollars Susan will make on her film contract.

Today a reception for Miss Hayward is being conducted under the auspices of the Metropolitan theater, where her first starring picture will soon be shown.

She will leave tonight for Washington to attend the special showing of "Our Leading Citizen," to which all members of Congress have been invited and in which she also plays an important role.

Jacked-up House Falls on Worker

A woman was imperilled and a workman was injured today when a heavy jack, being used to lift a Hough's Neck cottage, slipped out of position.

The foundation timbers sagged suddenly, pinning the workman and threatening collapse of the building over the head of it; owner-occupant, Mrs. Mary Benson.

The workman, William Rogers of Macey street, Hough's Neck, was rescued by passersby who pried him loose with crowbars and planks.

At Quincy Hospital, doctors said Rogers had a possible fracture of the arm, a hurt shoulder and possible internal injuries.

Mrs. Benson, who was sitting in the front room when the accident occurred, fled in the street.

Rogers' rescuers were Harold Roberts, 17, and Robert Delf, 35, both of Lakeside avenue, Hough's Neck.

The Benson cottage is in Winthrop street.

FLIER HOPES DEATH RACE WON

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (INS)—In a race with death as dramatic as any of his World War experiences, Captain Pat Mahan, 39, noted war aviator, was at the bedside today of Abraham Silverman, Coney Island jewelry salesman, near death of a rare streptococcus infection.

The flier is one of only six persons in the country whose blood is of the type needed.

A pint and a quarter of blood was taken from Mahan and was injected into Silverman last night.

In Washington, D. C., Captain Mahan picked up the radio appeal of Mrs. Abeline Silverman, on a coast-to-coast network Tuesday.

Somewhere among the country's millions were just six who had survived the rare and usually fatal subacute bacterial endocarditis. Mahan had the disease in St. Louis in 1935.

He called Coney Island Hospital, offered his blood, then arranged for the regular Miami plane of the Eastern Airlines to make a special stop for him in Washington.

Last June 12, Silverman, unemployed for four months, got a job. When he came home from work that night, he became ill.

Capt. Mahan, owner of the Washington School of Aeronautics, served overseas with the Lafayette Escadrille. Later he transferred to the American forces.

He doubled for James Cagney in "Devil-Dogs of the Air," and has done dangerous flying in other motion pictures for 10 years.

After the transfusion, he drank a glass of milk in the Silverman home at Sea Gate.

Asked why he volunteered to come to Silverman's rescue, he said:

"The man needed me, didn't he?"

Blood Donor Aids Boy In Battle for Life

Brave little 12-year-old Charles De Felice of Chelsea scored a new victory today in his amazing uphill fight against death from leukemia, supposedly "100-per cent fatal" disease of the blood.

The boy's life was saved, temporarily at least, by an emergency blood transfusion at Chelsea Memorial hospital, with Charles Castaldo, Lynn member of the U. S. Naval Reserve, acting as volunteer donor.

Castaldo was chosen from more than 150 persons who offered their blood as result of an appeal made through the Boston Evening American and Daily Record.

The transfusion was performed by Dr. William Paris of Chelsea. Hospital officials credit him with having in large part made possible his boy patient's remarkable battle for recovery.

Young Charles was stricken last March. Doctors of a Boston hospital said there was no hope for him. But, sent home to die, he rallied instead.

He has submitted to more than 20 previous blood transfusions, most of them performed by Dr. Paris.

After a sudden and dangerous relapse, he was sent back to Chelsea Memorial Hospital. But the present transfusion gave him renewed strength—driving death away to take another holiday.

TROOPS CALLED IN STRIKE

KREMMLING, Colo., Aug. 3 (INS)—Declaring a state of insurrection existed, Governor Ralph L. Carr today called out National Guard infantry and tank troops to enforce martial law and "restore peace and order" at the strike-embattled Green Mountain dam project west of Kremmling.

The Governor's action was taken after at least seven men were wounded, one critically, in two pitched gun battles at the dam.

Led by Adj. Gen. H. H. Richardson, the troops, armed with pistols, rifles and field guns, made their way in trucks over mountain highways to the dam site, where more than one thousand men in arms had been reported ready to engage in a major battle.

DEPUTIES ARE ROUTED

The trouble was precipitated yesterday when 100 sheriff's deputies descended on the dam and overpowered 50 pickets, temporarily restoring operations at the project for the first time since five American Federation of Labor Unions called a strike July 12.

Some 800 strikers and strike sympathizers later routed the sheriff's men in a second gun fight and the appeals for martial law and troops began pouring out of the area from residents and authorities alike.

BRIDGES BLOWN UP

Alarmed by the flood of reports from Green Mountain, where the situation grew hourly more serious, the governor early this morning called out the troops. At the same time he issued a proclamation saying that a state of insurrection existed "where armed forces are engaged in actual conflict and hundreds of men are opposing each other in such a manner that bloodshed and violence are imminent."

Two bridges were blown up during the height of the fighting. One, on the road between the dam and Kremmling, by sheriff's deputies, and the other, at the dam's north gate, by the unionists.

In Washington today, J. R. Steelman, director of the federal conciliation service, indicated he may ask the reclamation bureau to shut down the work until mediation conferences can be held in an effort to settle the strike.

HUB JOINS U. S. WAR ON CRIME

Boston became part of a national federal crime drive today as U. S. Attorney Edmund J. Brandon hurried to New York to confer with U. S. Attorney John T. Cahill in connection with establishment of a "clearing house of crime" under the direction of Chief G-Man J. Edgar Hoover.

Recent developments in the underworld have brought about the beginnings of the drive, it was reported here, with reported evidence linking all big city mobs together.

The local involvements, it was said, center principally about industrial racketeers, "protectionists" of inter-state shipments of commodities, gambling, narcotics and illegal liquor.

The probe, it was said, will also be concerned with certain phases of commercialized vice.

Local connections between the Capone mob in Chicago, and the so-called "Number One Combine" in New York were said to be under investigation.

The probe has been brought to a head in New York by the nation-wide search started by District Attorney Thomas E. Dewey for Louis ("Lepke") Buckholz, reputed head of the "Number One Combine," a fugitive for several months. A recent murder in the Bronx was said by Dewey to have been ordered by "Lepke" from his hiding place.

An underworld empire, linking all big cities, was established during prohibition, G-men charge, and has continued. One of its prime organizers was Charles ("Lucky") Luciano, New York "big shot," convicted by Dewey two years ago, and now serving a 40-year sentence as a white slaver.

U. S. Attorney-General Frank Murphy is backing Hoover and his aides.

Mother of Twins in City Hospital

TWIN GIRLS ARE BORN TO HUB MOTHER, 19

At an age when most girls are busying their heads about the next date and what to wear for it, Mrs. Rose Modica, 19-year-old East Boston mother, is already planning for the future of her two new born daughters and their proud brother.

Mrs. Modica, an attractive brunette, has just given birth to twin girls at Boston City Hospital. At home in Haynes street, Daddy Michael Modica, with the aid of neighbors, is taking care of Junior, who is beginning to feel the importance of his own two years of life.

The twin girls, one four pounds, four ounces, the other three pounds, 10 ounces, are receiving extra care.

Their health, doctors claim, is perfect.

Name Third Dog Tax Committee

A third conference committee was appointed today by the Senate and House to attempt a compromise on the dog racing tax proposals which have deadlocked both branches.

Two such committees have failed. Each branch has stuck to its proposal and refused to budge. If the third committee does not come to an agreement it is believed no further effort will be made to adjust the differences through such means.

Governor Saltonstall then would be forced to send in a special message to revive the measure as the pending bill would die, temporarily blocking any increase in dog racing taxes.

The House has passed a bill to increase the taxes 7 per cent while the Senate approved a graduated tax up to 5 per cent.

Dog track interests are said to have boasted they would kill any attempted increases in the Senate.

The woman, Myrle Stanley, 25, an employe of Creel's tavern, said the six-foot, 29-year-old officer fired the shots which killed Creel and wounded her in the leg as he was slumping to the Rusk-Jacksonville highway with a bullet in his heart.

Vt. Lake Feud Flares Again

BURLINGTON, Vt., Aug. 3—An ancient feud between Vermont and New York states over jurisdiction on the waters of Lake Champlain flared up again today, after New York state troopers disarmed two Burlington officers who were assigned to patrol a pleasure boat.

As the ship, the Ticonderoga, docked at Port Kent, N. Y., the New York troopers came aboard to seize six slot machines.

Inspector Myer Gardner and Patrolman Herbert Lawrence of the Burlington police were arrested on suspicion of carrying weapons in New York state without a permit. They were not released, with their guns, until Attorney General Lawrence Jones of Vermont, a passenger, convinced the troopers that Gardner and Lawrence were bona-fide officers.

4000 Auto Tax Owners Face Ban

Bad news was brewing at City Hall today for a new batch of auto owners persistently negligent in payment of excise tax assessments on their cars.

City Collector Merritt Thompson said he was compiling a list of more than 4000 Bostonians who registered their autos in February, but thus far have failed to pay excise tax.

Offenders who registered in January have already been dealt with.

Thompson will turn his "black list" over to Registrar of Motor Vehicles Frank A. Goodwin Tuesday, he said. Delinquent autoists will then be given 30 days to pay up—or their registrations will be revoked.

Taxes due and unpaid total in excess of $25,000, Thompson said.

Insisted Wife Diet, She Gets Divorce

ELIZABETH, N. J., Aug 3 (INS)—Her husband's continued insistence that she diet to retain her figure constituted cruelty, Mrs. Joan Speers Blevin asserted in divorce court.

The master hearing the case agreed and today Mrs. Blevin had his recommendation for an uncontested divorce from Eric Blevin.

HUB BUS LINE HIT BY STRIKE

Following dismissal of two drivers for alleged infraction of company rules—speeding and failu to stop properly at a railroad crossing—75 other drivers and 15 terminal employes struck against the New England Greyhound Bus Lines today.

As buses came in from New York, Albany and points north and southeast, they were garaged and their crews joined the strikers. A picket line was established at the Park Square terminal of the company.

DENOUNCES STRIKE

Denouncing the strike as "completely illegal," Vice-President Paul C. Johnson stated efforts to resume service would be made this afternoon, and that he would visit the State Board of Arbitration and Conciliation to explain the company's side of the dispute.

"The men have been warned repeatedly that they are not allowed to speed," said Johnson.

"In one case," he continued, "the driver traveled at more than 70 miles an hour. In another, in which the man failed to stop at a railroad crossing, he made 45 miles in 43 minutes.

"There was no other course open to us. One of the two men, as a matter of fact, was a probationary employe, working out his first 60-day period."

DISCHARGES STRIKERS

The strike, he charged, was not duly authorized by Locals 1202 and 1205 of the Amalgamated Association of Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America, and A. F. of L. union, with which the company has a contract until December 1, 1939.

"The contract calls for a two-thirds strike vote," he said. "No such vote was taken. It provides for arbitration of disputes. There was none.

"All who have walked out are now discharged, and will not be taken back."

Police escorts for buses were authorized by Superintendent Fallon.

SON WINS RACE WITH DEATH

Winning a race with death after a dash of 150 miles across the state, a devoted son stood vigil hour after hour today at the hospital bedside of his stricken mother, Mrs. Francis E. Slattery, of Brighton.

A noted Catholic club member and former president of the League of Catholic Women, she is in a critical condition at the Cardinal O'Connell House of St. Elizabeth's Hospital.

The son, John R. Slattery, of Washington street, Brighton, raced in his automobile from Lenox when notified of her condition.

State police made possible Slattery's mile-a-minute race against death by informing all police departments from Lenox to Brighton of his mission.

Although the nature of Mrs. Slattery's illness was not divulged, hospital officials said that her condition was serious and had remained "unchanged." She was taken to the hospital from her summer home at Scituate.

Mrs. Slattery has espoused various causes before the legislature on the request of Cardinal O'Connell and was awarded a gold medal by the late Pope Benedict for her activities in the League of Catholic Women. She was a member of the city planning board through appointment by former Mayor Malcolm E. Nichols.

Her late husband was a chairman of the Boston Schoolhouse Commission.

In his dash across the state, Slattery drove alone.

Exhausted after the journey, he was immediately ushered to his mother's side. Later, he was taken to another part of the hospital for some food and after a brief rest, returned to his mother's bedside.

Firemen All Burned Up by Sec. Perkins

NEW YORK, Aug. 3 (AP)—Fire department officials were burned up today over an official report to Congress that Secretary Perkins' car burned on the doorstep of the Yorkville fire station because fire-fighting chemicals had been exhausted.

A department spokesman asserted that when the car took fire, on June 10, Miss Perkins' chauffeur drove it 50 feet to the firehouse.

The car blocked the entrance so that the firemen not only could not get their equipment out, the spokesman said, but they had to shut the doors of the station to keep it from catching fire.

In reporting on a request for a new car for the labor secretary, Sam J. Gompers, chief clerk of Miss Perkins' department, said:

"The firemen were out of material for putting out gasoline fires, and somebody went out to get some; but by the time he came back the car was gone."

TAFT HAT IN RING FOR PRESIDENT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio, expressed a willingness today to become a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination in 1940.

Robt. A. Taft

The son of the former President and Chief Justice stated his position in a letter to George F. Eyrich, chairman of the county Republican executive committee at Cincinnati, which had endorsed him for the nomination.

"I shall be willing when the times comes," Taft said, "to give my consent to have my name designated as the first choice by candidates for delegates (to the National Republican convention) throughout the state."

Taft told Eyrich that his work as Senator was "extremely interesting" and that he preferred it to any other job. He added, however, that he would not "run away from a harder job."

"Whether I am a candidate for any other office," he wrote, "is entirely a, to the Republicans of Ohio."

The "unpleasant job" ahead of the next President, he said, is such that "no sensible man could be eager to assume it."

"Unless the whole present tendency of the government is redirected," he declared, "we cannot long maintain financial solvency or free enterprise or even individual liberty in the United States, but the leaders of the movement against New Deal fallacies must have the courage to incur the unlimited displeasure of every vested interest whose selfish purposes conflict with a radical policy of reform."

F. D. Housing, Farm Loan Bills Also Appear Doomed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—The Roosevelt administration, beset by opposition inside and outside the Democratic party, was heading today toward new congressional troubles which threatened a possible upset of plans to adjourn by Saturday night.

The $800,000,000 housing bill, sole remaining fragment of President Roosevelt's lending program, was steered toward what leaders privately admitted was almost certain House defeat.

They expected that on a vote this afternoon it would go the way of the $1,950,000,000 major lending measure—cut the window at the hands of a militant Democratic-Republican coalition.

FARM LOAN DANGER

On the Senate side of the big-domed capitol, a fight was brewing over whether to honor an administration request for a $119,000,000 loan fund to continue bolstering farm prices.

The House economy bloc succeeded yesterday in keeping the money out of a $54,161,000 deficiency appropriation bill. Altogether that measure was cut $161,700,000 below the estimates of the White House budget bureau.

Around the $119,000,000 farm item, to replenish the cash of the Commodity Credit Corporation, centered the possibility that Congress would be carried over into another week. Senate approval of the fund, when the deficiency bill is taken up tomorrow, would bring on another battle with the anti-New Dealers in the House.

SEES PRICE SLUMP

Secretary Wallace told reporters that unless the money is provided corn prices would drop to 1932 levels, wheat would go down and prices of cotton and dairy products would be seriously affected.

A third row simmered in the House. Amendments to revise the wage-hour law can be called up for debate, and one set of the proposed changes, the President has said, would doom 2,000,000 of the country's lowest paid workers to unconscionably low wages.

Hub Protests New Milk Plan

First local protest against the government's change in milk policy—paying farmers 3.12 cents a quart rather than .82 for milk for welfare purposes—was registered today in a note to President Roosevelt, dispatched by City Councilor John E. Kerrigan, South Boston.

"Economy at the expense of the very poor," wrote the councilor, "is a blow at the health of the nation."

Under the old plan surplus milk, paid for by the government at the rate of .82 cents a quart, was distributed free by welfare agencies to people on relief, and was sold to WPA families at two cents a quart.

Under the new system welfare milk will be five cents a quart, and seven cents a quart for WPA distribution.

Oxygen Tent Cost Cut by Mayo Discovery

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—A new device perfected by the Mayo Clinic of Rochester, Minn., makes oxygen treatment available in the home at moderate cost for the first time, the American Medical Association said today.

Heretofore such treatment, usually by oxygen tent, has been comparatively expensive even in large hospitals.

The new inhalation apparatus is described in the association's journal by Dr. Walter M. Boothby, Dr. W. Randolph Lovelace 2d and Dr. Charles W. Mayo, who died May 26.

To administer oxygen by tent usually costs from $12 to $25 a day, not counting special nursing, the journal said, but the new device reduces the cost to $5 to $8 daily.

Fr. Divine Silent On Boston 'Heaven'

Large-scale extension of Father Divine's "kingdom" in New England was foreseen today following reports from New York that the "Messiah" is now master of a mysterious $15,000,000 fund for creating branch "heavens."

Not only does the man who calls himself "God" plan to take over The Castle, former Richard Washburn Child mansion in Newport, R. I., but he may stage a giant mass meeting in Boston Garden late this summer.

The coming of the kingdom to New England is but one phase of a sudden branching out. Thousands of Father Divine's followers will hold rallies in auditoriums at Detroit, Philadelphia and Chicago.

Special trains may carry 5000 "dark angels" to Boston for the meeting here, which is designed to build up additional support for two Divine missions on West Canton street and Columbus avenue, South End, and a temporary "heaven" in Lenox street.

FR. DIVINE SILENT

The religious leader himself, questioned in his lavish headquarters on Upper Madison avenue, New York, refused to discuss his reported $15,000,000 expansion fund, except with the characteristic comment:

"We have aplenty, peace, aplenty of buildings."

John Lamb, white secretary of Harlem's high priest, said excursion boats may carry 2000 "angels" to Newport when the purchase of The Castle from Mrs. Angela Kaufman is consummated.

Otherwise, he made the usual answer to queries concerning more New England "heavens":

"Peace, it's wonderful."

PLAN MORE "HEAVENS"

If the atmosphere of Newport, with its many social registerites, is too antagonistic, Father Divine's program may be abandoned there, Lamb revealed.

Other indications of the growth of the "kingdom" since the acquisition of the building fund are the preparations of Divine to buy properties in exclusive Chestnut Hill, Philadelphia, and the 2500-acre estate of Robert W. Goelet, banker, in the Glenmere Lake village of Chester, N. Y.

Mass. to Get Army Air Base

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3 (AP)—Informed persons said today they understood the army would recommend a Massachusetts site for the army's air base in New England.

Although Secretary Woodring previously had announced no decision would be made public until October, usually reliable sources said the location "now being most seriously considered" was in the Bay State.

They also said that until the war department aeronautical experts undertook a resurvey of New England sites a few weeks ago, Concord, N. H., had been tentatively decided upon.

Fliers Aloft For 11th Day

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 3 (AP)—The Moody brothers, Hunter and Humphrey, remained aloft today for the 11th consecutive day in their small monoplane, resolved to establish a second sustained flight record before landing.

Already possessing a world mark for continuous flight in a light plane, the brothers set as their next objective a new endurance record for planes of all types—more than 653 hours.

Find Clue in Hunt For 'Lucky Eileen'

years, discovered such great ones as Eddie Canter, Georgie Jessel, Walter Winchell, Georgie Price and dozens of others.

"Eileen," whoever she is, will be a part of this great, glamorous event, close every minute of it to her new-found friend, the 14-year-old star, herself.

And there are other treats in store for her, too numerous to mention, all of which will be told about later.

Linda Ware is really Beverly Stillwagon, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Washington Stillwagon.

Her mother, a singer, died when she was a baby, and she was placed in McCullough's Orphanage at Steubenville, O., where she stayed until taken to Detroit by her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Stillwagon.

She began singing when she was still just a tot, and by the time she was seven, had become Detroit's most famous child singing star, with appearances with the Detroit Symphony Orchestra to her credit.

A few months ago her aunt took her to Hollywood, and one night she was a guest at the home of Charles R. Rogers, the Paramount producer. She sang for him after they had dined, and he signed her at once on a contract.

She is so happy about it all that when she received Eileen's letter—a letter from one little girl to another, in which the young writer poured all of her hopes and aspirations—she was so touched that she could not help but do something about.

The invitation to Hollywood followed, but—

Where is Eileen? . . .

ELSIE ROBINSON writes the woman's viewpoint, discusses every-day affairs and problems, regularly in the Boston American.

Oh, Here's The Icewoman

FARNEGAT, N. J., Aug. 3 (AP)—No iceman with bulging muscles lumbers up your doorstep in this little seashore town.

Instead, up steps Mrs. Daisy Herbert, soft-spoken and frail-looking, who drops a 50-pound piece of ice in your box with the same ease with which she cleans her house when her ice-carrying chores are done.

She's just a wisp of a woman—weighing about 85 pounds in summertime when business is brisk and a little more in the off-season—but four times a week she serves her 130 customers over a 75-mile route.

Since 1918, when her husband's health failed him, Mrs. Herbert has been carrying on a routine like that.

"I most certainly do," Bridges replied. "I don't see how we can do much better. I think the big shots, however, at the present time, make it worse. There are a lot of obstacles in the way and a lot of people don't like to see the democratic form of government and our big job these days is apparently to make it work."

Vets Injured in Crash Carry On at Conclave; 6 in Hospital

BUS DAMAGED IN CRASH WHICH HURT 46

Inset, Bert Pettine, Lynnfield, Carries Mrs. Hattie Lord, 70, From Hospital

Forty delegates and auxiliary members attended today's sessions of the Disabled American Veterans conclave in bandages and six others remained in Cambridge Hospital as a result of the tripic bus crash which marred a convention sight-seeing trip.

All victims of the accident were reported making speedy recoveries with those held at the hospital spent a "comfortable" night, physicians said.

Most of the injured were riding in the [illegible] bus when it was struck by a [illegible] machine driven by [illegible] Lawrence, and [illegible] Haverhill, [illegible] Cambridge.

As the [illegible] machine jerked to a stop to avoid a woman crossing at the Lake street intersection with her child and leashed dog, the car immediately behind swerved trying to avoid a collision. The last bus of the line then rammed the 18th, which in turned was jammed into the machine ahead.

Most [illegible] was the following [illegible] Ohio [illegible]

Mrs. W. E. Lamb, 39, [illegible] Ohio [illegible]

Mrs. Agnes Smith, 36, Groton, [illegible]

Mrs. Laura Bubu, 48, Cleveland, Ohio, face lacerations and other injuries.

Mrs. I. B. Morrison, [illegible] Texas, [illegible]

Mrs. Mary Cadigan, 26, Broadway, Everett, injuries to the legs.

Mrs. George Clark, 44, Tyler, Texas.

[illegible] Buckley, 18, of Harvard ave., West Medford, was a passenger in the [illegible] mother, Mrs. Ruth Buckley, who is [illegible]

When the crash came, he threw himself in front of his mother to [illegible] fell on his right arm, breaking it at the wrist.

Oldest of the injured was Mrs. Hattie M. Lord, 70, of Warren st., Watertown.

Mass War on Isms Demanded by DAV

Police action against un-American societies in Boston and other Massachusetts cities was demanded today by officials of the Disabled American Veterans as they met in the Hotel Statler for the fifth session of their national convention.

Senators Fear Deal Plan For China Loan

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

Special to the Boston Evening American

WASHINGTON, Aug. 3—Members of Senate and House who recently prevented consummation of President Roosevelt's desire to amend the neutrality laws and repeal the mandatory arms embargo followed with concern today reports of suggestions by Great Britain for American participation with her in an advance of additional credits to the Chiang Kai-Shek government to support Chinese currency.

Reports of such a plan stating that such overtures have been made by the British government were [illegible] the Capitol [illegible] was suspicious when the "spending lending" bill was under consideration that the secret purpose behind the original request of the President that the $100,000,000 capital of the Export-Import Bank be increased by an additional $500,000,000 was to enable the government to make loans of the character indicated. The [illegible] denied such a credit to China of $25,000,000.

SENATORS OPPOSED

It [illegible] become apparent in the Senate that members of the group which blocked all consideration of [illegible] amendment at this session [illegible] that for the United States [illegible] Britain in joint credit advances to the Chinese government would be highly provocative [illegible] some senators said they believed such action would be regarded as hostile and they indicated they [illegible] to ad[illegible] was not immediately apparent what steps, if any, Congress could take.

[illegible] that the British government has told the United States it proposes to follow Secretary Hull's initiative, and denounce the Anglo-Japanese [illegible] by early fall [illegible] and negotiations in Tokyo break [illegible] Hull knew in advance of Mr. Hull's [illegible] information that London [illegible] knew in advance of Mr. Hull's [illegible]

U. S., BRITAIN IN ACCORD

They are uneasy at evidence that the United States and Great Britain are moving with a common purpose and close under [illegible] the situation.

Mr. Roosevelt's original request for an additional half billion dollars for the Export-Import Bank [illegible] cut by the Senate to $175,000,000, [illegible] House [illegible] British House of Commons extending the powers of the Board of Trade to give guarantees for the encouragement of foreign trade [illegible] 60,000,000 pounds, an increase of 50,000,000 pounds over the limitation as fixed by the Export Guarantee Act last February.

Any further extension of credits to China by the Export-Import Bank probably would be attacked by senators, even if such action should come during the recess of Congress.

Shoe Production Up Over Year Ago

While shoe production in the United States seems to have reached something in the nature of a ceiling, monthly figures show activity at [illegible] levels than prevailed a year ago . . .

ALL TYPES . . . Of leather footwear, save one, showed gains in June . . . According to the New England Shoe and Leather Association report, just released . . . Which places the gain over June, 1938, at 17.6 per cent on the basis of production figures compiled by the United States Bureau of Census . . . For the six months of this year output soared 12.7 per cent for the country as a whole . . . A trend counter to that experienced in part-leather, part-fabric and all-fabric shoes . . . Where large percentage declines [illegible] Another worth-noting feature of the report is the showing of men's work shoes . . . For the six months this year production jumped 23 per cent over 1938 . . . Which showing more than offsets the little dip of 3.2 per cent shown in comparable June figures . . .

BAY STATE . . . Manufacturing showed up well in the Shoe and Leather Association report for the June month period . . . A gain of 5.5 per cent was registered . . . In volume Massachusetts ranked second in number of pairs produced, led only by New York . . . The New England states as a unit also fared well . . . And increase of 14 per cent comparing favorably with the industry's 17.6 per cent gain . . . Bay State shoe manufacturers employed 23,000 workers during June and the average total weekly wages paid amounted to $318,620 . . . Representing increases of 4 and 7 per cent respectively over a year ago . . . Figures for the leather industry were 7000 workers and an average weekly payroll of $183,718 with percentage gains of 2 and 33 over June 1938 . . .

PICKUP . . . In Worth St. textile dealings is noted again . . . Cotton goods in particular are in brisk demand . . . While prices have remained unchanged from last week's levels a stiffening tendency is in evidence . . . Selling agents indicate they are looking for advances of one-eighth of a cent a yard before the week end . . . Rayons continue in fair demand and wools are more or less quiet . . . But summed up the textile picture has changed quite radically for the better this summer . . . And it should mean a great deal to local manufacturing centers during the fall and early winter months . . .

COUNTERPART . . . Of this optimism from New York City should be found in State St. among the over-the-counter traders . . . Who have already indicated quite a slight nibbling here and there . . . Which is usually the [illegible] appetites have been whetted . . . And all that is needed to [illegible] about a less restrained attitude is the sight of at least partial [illegible] lation of cloth buying into more active mill production . . . Which is almost a sure thing now that inventory worries are a thing of the past . . .

Night Watchman Takes New Bride at 3 A. M.

In a [illegible] the morning" wedding [illegible] F. Cotter 56, and Dorothy Elmgren, 21 of Warren avenue, South End, exchanged vows of matrimony today at Cotter's Bond street, South End, home.

Cotter, a widower and father of three children, brought about an investigation of the city's welfare department when it was learned that his first wife was buried in an unmarked grave last May without his knowledge.

Rev. Charles E. Worden, known as the "flying minister," performed the wedding ceremony, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Riehl of Dorchester attended the couple as best man and matron of honor. A few relatives and close friends attended.

After the simple ceremony, the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James A. Cotter, of West Brookline expect South End were first to congratulate the newlyweds. Other well wishers then gathered around the smiling couple to offer best wishes.

M[illegible] capital punishment are seizing on [illegible] of the mingled execution of killers Green and [illegible] as an argument for abolition of the death penalty.

Of course [illegible] and [illegible] electric shocks are [illegible] [illegible] somewhere between [illegible] and electrodes. But all executions are horrible and there are stronger arguments for their abolition than a bungled one.

Capital punishment is one of two things - must be one of two things: (1) A state vengeance, eye for eye and tooth for tooth; or (2) a coldly practical example of man-made justice [illegible] only in that it is a deterrent to murder.

In the Christian nation, men supposedly accept the precepts of the Christ and the Ten Commandments, and vengeance is supposed to be the Lord's and there is no exception made for capital punishment in the Bible commandment against killing. It is merely: "Thou shalt not kill" and there is no amending phrase such as, "except as killers themselves shall be put to death." An act of the Legislature doesn't amend the Bible though some legislators undoubtedly consider even that within their power.

This being a Christian and a civilized state, no proponents of capital punishment ever will admit that the death penalty is [illegible]. They must necessarily defend it, and excuse it, with the claim that it stays the hand of potential slayers.

WELL, OF COURSE it doesn't do any such thing. France has had her death-by-torture punishments and her guillotine down through the ages and until very recently capital punishment in France was a public spectacle viewed by thousands. But there is no evidence in French statistics that the punishment and the awful spectacle of it, ever prevented a murder.

France recently decreed private executions when the government became incensed because pictures were taken, and published, of a convict being beheaded. This appears completely inconsistent with the theory that capital punishment and the spectacle of capital punishment would lower the murder rate. But nothing is so inconsistent as French inconsistency.

Nor is there any proof, in Massachusetts, or in any of the other states that retain the death penalty, that capital punishment is a deterrent to murder, and in the states where capital punishment has been abolished, murder has not increased.

If there were any basis at all for the argument that capital punishment prevents murder, executions should not only be public but all the terrible facts concerning them should be made public, and pictures of their horror should be printed as examples of what is in store for slayers. The facts are that many of the most revolting details about executions are never made public, and no pictures are ever permitted.

This is a policy based not on any misconception but on deceit.

Because capital punishment on the statute books is the people's law and the people should look it in the face.

BY UNANIMOUS CONSENT, the Senate recently passed the bill of Senator Logan—a duplicate of which has been introduced in the House by Representative Walter of Pennsylvania, which [illegible]

"The establishment by judicial review of all administrative rules and all administrative decisions and orders issued or rendered by administrative agencies of the federal government."

And suddenly, Senator Minton, of Indiana, an Administration Senator, sought to have the Senate reconsider this important measure - a measure designed to stop the headlong march of New Deal Boards and Commissions to dictatorial powers.

The greatest publicity should be given the reasons WHY the Administration and its henchmen seek to prevent this bill, which aims at RESTORING CONSTITUTIONAL GOVERNMENT IN THE UNITED STATES, from becoming a law.

The tremendous importance of the Walter-Logan bill to the American people is revealed by the following, written by Senator Logan in his favorable committee report:

"The administrative agencies are (under the bill) to remain free in the discharge of both their quasi-legislative and quasi judicial authority.

"This does not contemplate that the administrative officials shall exercise OTHER THAN A LEGAL DISCRETION; they do not have a roving commission to OBEY THE LAW or NOT OBEY IT as they see fit, to change and adopt policies contrary to the policies stated in the law."

In a word, the Walter-Logan bill aims to end irresponsible government by DECREE and UKASE.

The present administration seeks to reverse the Senate's action on one of the best bills before Congress in many years—a bill to break the power of tyrannical tribunals created by EXECUTIVE FIAT, as they are created in Germany, Italy and Russia.

The Walter-Logan bill should pass the House as it came from the Senate after full and open debate—which is the AMERICAN WAY.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- MY DAY

HYDE PARK, N. Y., Aug. 3 — Yesterday was a busy day. I rode in the morning, did the mail and my column, and then Mrs. Charles Fayerweather brought a young friend to lunch with me. We had a pleasant time together, but I had to "speed the parting guest," for I was due across the river, at the Hudson Labor School in the afternoon.

Miss Hilda Smith owns this property and is very happy to have it used as a summer school for women workers. The group was gathered in front of the house under the trees before I arrived and they were discussing interesting questions. What did I think they should try to get out of the seven weeks spent on the banks of the Hudson? "How would one go about interesting people in a community in working conditions [illegible]

THEY HAVE two English girls, a German refugee and a Swedish girl at the school this summer. While we were all having tea I was amused to have one of the English girls say to me: "What a contrast between what you are able to do and what our Queen is able to do! I wonder if [illegible] to have the same amount of freedom."

I am sure this school does a great deal to develop the mental alertness of the girls but I think it is equally valuable because of the health which they acquire.

I came back to meet Mr. Karl Hedley National Youth Administration for the State.

FIRST LADY ENJOYS BUSY DAY

Visits Summer School, Sees Movie Then Dines With Friends.

In the evening Miss Thompson and I were at dinner with Mrs. Morgenthau and her three children at their Fishkill farm.

Five of us went to Poughkeepsie afterward to see the movie "Goodbye Mr. Chips." I am always reluctant to see a movie taken from a book which I much enjoyed, for so often what you have loved in the book is completely spoiled. In this case, however, I think it is extremely well done. "Mr. Chips" is very well cast and acts the part to perfection.

I knew a schoolmaster once whose life somewhat paralleled that of "Mr. Chips." He was [illegible] the headmaster's study and took him only his young wife to [illegible] and he had the same affection toward his boys, [illegible] and baby he lost a short time after the birth of their children around him. He went into the World War as a chaplain, and I have often thought that though he probably [illegible] very few of his own schoolboys [illegible] another boy must have been helped through hours of pain and even death by a man who had many of Mr. Chips' qualities.

The English schoolmaster of this type is a fine tradition.

Human Side of News -:- by EDWIN C. HILL

THAT number [illegible] "Mussolini Executes Young Girl and Mother," "Hitler's Secret Uncovers Spies in Circus," "Belgium Arrests Eight in Espionage Round-up," "London Expels Nazi Agents Wholesale," "Berlin Guillotines Two," "Paris Boosts Italian."

Spies are all over, around and about. And according to the calculations now in Washington, the best ones are never the ones who get into the news by way of the obituary column. The best ones aren't caught.

Mata Hari! Yes, she was caught all right, but after considerable research the notion is spreading that she wasn't so good. Good looking, yes! But hardly [illegible] any brighter than the penny of a newsboy who got hired to do a small time spy job in New York a while back.

While the World War raged, Germany and her allies had perhaps 25,000 spies planted [illegible] Britain and France had almost as many. Today both [illegible] have more than ever, which I feel loyal, full of resource.

It isn't likely that your next-door neighbor is one of the army. But he might be. He [illegible] "a [illegible] agent" one of a people and who is nothing and [illegible] get about his own business until [illegible] orders come. He might even be a stationary agent," a [illegible] under constant orders to [illegible] any chance bit of gossip [illegible] happens to pick up while earning his daily bread.

HE IS MORE likely to be one such than a "mobile agent," or a "special agent," for these are the aristocrats of espionage. They are as [illegible] under orders as an army officer, a policeman.

And if you don't believe it, you are in sharp disagreement with United States Attorney General Murphy. He has just swung a big monkey wrench in an effort to tighten up our counter-espionage activities on the West Coast, where massed military, naval and aviation projects make special vigilance imperative. He says spies are thicker than ever out there and he doesn't mean there are [illegible] along the Eastern seaboard. Nor does Representative Walter of Pennsylvania. He fathered a bill in the House to increase punishment for espionage [illegible]

Maybe Tom Moore had it right: "The sinful shine, deceitful flow, There's nothing true but Heaven."

Susan Hayward Visits Boston

Susan Hayward, who is described by the Paramount Studio as "a riotously exciting young lady of tantalizing appeal," is a Boston visitor.

She arrived by plane early today and while here will be guest of honor at a reception for members of the press.

The feminine lead of "Beau Geste," the Gary Cooper starrer, due soon on the Met screen, and of "Our Leading Citizen," latest Paramount picture, Miss Hayward has this to say on the oomph question:

"I've got oomph in large quantities. I don't wish to say I've got more than Ann Sheridan. That, I believe, is for the public to decide. I do know, however, that I've got everything she's got."

The new Paramount star will leave Boston tonight for Washington, where she will attend the premiere screening of "Our Leading Citizen," at which members of Congress will be special guests.

Benny Hit on Uptown Screen Tomorrow

Jack Benny in "Man About His Town," his best picture to date, takes over the Uptown screen for the week starting tomorrow. Dorothy Lamour, who has exchanged her sarong for one of Hollywood's smoothest wardrobes, and Binnie Barnes play opposite him. Hollywood Paragraphs

By LOUELLA O. PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 3. I've always been a Franchot Tone fan because he has never turned in a poor performance even when his pictures at times have been dull.

I told you when Franchot was in the hospital that he would make two pictures for Metro and my prophecy has come true. His second is "Willow Tree," a psychological drama not unlike "Night Must Fall" with Rosalind Russell who co-starred with Robert Montgomery in the above mentioned melodrama.

"East and Furious" and "The Willow Tree" are listed before Franchot keeps his stage date "Night Must Fall" did a lot for Bob Montgomery in that it proved he needn't restrict himself to playing debonair men about town, but it was never-popular entertainment.

AUSTEN LAKE

Welcome Back to George P. Marshall

ALWAYS UNUSUAL SINCE THE DAY that he promoted his first professional football game in 1933 and spread his arms before the bleacher crowd at Braves Field imploring them to restore the football which had been accidentally kicked into their midst, George P. Marshall is returning for an exhibition game with his Redskins next month. It will be his first official return since he ran off with his mercenaries and disowned Boston as undeserving of so fine a civic monument.

AUSTEN LAKE

We will be glad to welcome gorgeous George back. He was pictorial copy!

But just to keep the agenda straight! When Marshall kidnaped his club in a huff three years ago, he called Boston "horse crazy" and said that "our sporting heritage had passed through the pari-mutuel windows," remarks which hailed from his exasperation at the small payload of customers during his Sunday games.

This is not to deny that Boston was, and is, suffering from what neurologists call a "race track psychosis." Indeed, it was deplored by some of our rightest thinking citizens long before it occurred to Mr. Marshall to deplore it, too.

He Punished the People

WITHDRAWAL OF THE REDSKINS from Fenway Park was a typical example of Marshall's frenetic logic. Because for years of striving to earn some dividends on his investment, which he paid had soared up $80,000 to $100,000 in personal assets at the exact [illegible] he would capture the world championship he decided if the Boston people wished his Redskins play for the world title they would have to journey to the New York Polo Grounds. The team Marshall [illegible] do with as he pleased and it pleased him to punish the Boston people who had been too intelligent to [illegible]

[illegible] October of 1936, when the New York Giants came to [illegible] Park and I thought though I could have been mistaken that I saw [illegible] had drifted past the gates at the old seat prices when it became evident that the attendance would exceed all previous estimates. Somebody and I presume it was Marshall himself hustled around the ticket wickets and boosted the fare from 55 cents to $1.10 to the painful embarrassment of some of the people who had come with bankrolls amounting to 75c inclusive of carfare both going and coming.

Supply and Demand

THE REDSKINS WERE BEING BOUNCED around pretty liberally by the opposition at the time and, on the theory that they were no bargains at any price just then, the patrons resented being bounced around by the Redskins. But Marshall pointed out that this was just a common custom of merchandising where the charges were increased to meet expansion of trade. The more you bought, the more it cost.

But, being unfamiliar with the law of supply and demand, the people began forgetting to turn out on Sunday afternoons and left big bald spots in the ears of the Stadium which spread from week to week like an epidemic of eczema.

It irritated Marshall to contemplate these nude areas, on which the absentee customers outnumbered the presentees by 10 to 1. And when, with a stellar, classic attraction like the Chicago Bears, a mere coroner's jury came out to see the game, he began dancing up and down and said he would yank the team out of Boston by its roots if the people failed to claim enough of these vacant seats the next week to meet his approval.

It Was Boston's Loss

BUT THAT DIDN'T WORK EITHER and the stands were just as mangy, if not more so, for that sterling, blue banner attraction, the Green Bay Packers, as they had been for the Bears. Only this time, being wholly unpredictable, Marshall smiled happily and said how Boston was a picture-postcard city of charming residents and he planned to keep his Redskins permanently in such cultural surroundings. So he hired air on the radio and broadcast some tactful nothings about being misquoted by his press pals.

Apparently that didn't work too. It blew a blizzard the next Sunday, according to my file, and only a few die hards bought into the Pittsburgh game. Marshall didn't say anything then, but the next Sunday, when the Skins downed the Giants for their divisional championship, the great festering sore inside his bosom busted and he reverted from Jekyll to Hyde by kissing goodbye to Boston when glory and profit were within his reach. He said that the next year, instead of coming back to reap forgiveness and payloads of hallelujah hoofers he would set out new roots in Washington and begin his missionary work all over again.

Well, it was our loss and Washington's gain, because George made the lives of persons engaged in the sport writing business a goodly joy. We miss his orchiduceous antics. We miss seeing him walk into some center of downtown jaundity, clap his hands and holler "Waiter, lots of waiters! Bring champagne for the ladies and gentlemen," whereat the ladies and gentlemen within earshot would hoist their brows and whisper, "That is long-lisp linen Marshall, the famous man about town."

RICH'S SHOWING ENCOURAGES SOX

"Hod was pitching very well," says Jurges, "with most of his stuff again and only a little off in control.

"His long trouble now may be that he's pushing his pitches a bit, possibly afraid to bear down with everything and lying about recurrence of the arm stiffness.

He's on his way now, says Bill. All that pitcher's was what ruined him in the spring. Dad do wouldn't let on that it was bothering him but he was passing just the same. He's still walking a few but he's not wild any more.

"So his fast ball still isn't anything to cool a fellow's whiskers but there's something on it and no mistake.

"The batters aren't getting hold of him solidly. I'm beginning to understand how he won those 24 games for Seattle last year."

We'll finish 1st or 2nd of both Cleveland and Chicago now that we're started. And neither could double.

Greenberg will make a big difference to us now that he's quit trying to hit home runs and is just meeting the ball naturally. Up to a few days ago he was hanging at the ball.

I guess he couldn't forget how close he had come to beating Babe Ruth's home record last season. He'd get more home runs than any other man in the league if, using his wrists [illegible]

Dean's Arm O.K.

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (INS)—Seriousness of the sore arm of Paul Dean, Cardinal hurler, which has been pitching havoc among opposing batsmen, was denied by Dr. Fred Hoffer, Tuesday was belittled today by the Chicago Cubs physician, Dr. Edgar Davis.

Although Dr. Hoffer himself reported to attach his arm was in worst condition he'd ever seen, Dr. Davis stated after he had examined the hurler's arm that he found it in good condition and thought it just a case of "too many soreness."

The doctor told Dean to take it easy for a few days but to keep on throwing.

Mr. BOSTON

By JACK CONWAY

KEN KELTNER of the Indians continues to prove he is the best third-baseman in the American League . . . Playing against the Red Sox, Keltner has made some amazing stops, and has then come up with good throws . . . Like every other third baseman, Keltner occasionally makes an error on a ground ball or tosses the agate wild, but over a period of time he has a small percentage of miscues.

Keltner rates with the greatest of third basemen in recent years . . . He is particularly effective when he dives to his own right for hard hit balls close to the bag . . . He has a happy faculty of coming up with these kind of hits, and then fossing the runners out at first.

Jim Tabor of the Red Sox has some of Keltner's ability for snaring terrific smashes close to the fould line, but he has yet to master the art of throwing to first or second after such plays . . . Tabor has a tendency to throw wild . . . Watching Keltner you will notice he always hesitates for a fraction of a second before making a throw after a diving stop . . . The slight delay gives him an opportunity to steady himself, and minimizes the danger of a bad throw.

That was a magnificent sight when the squadron of army planes flew over Fenway Park during the first game . . . The crowd yelled to the umpires to halt the game so that they could watch the air show . . . The umpires complied with the request . . . Jack Wilson got so air minded that he lost control and did an ascention act of his own . . . A Cronin to Doerr to Foxx double play saved the situation for the time being, but the Indians finally caught up with Wilson and sent him to the showers.

After playing golf on fairways that have been scorched by the sun, it is a relief to see the green grass at Fenway Park . . . The entire park is watered regularly with the result the grass is in excellent condition . . . I motored through Franklin Park the other day, and found the fairways of the golf course burned brown . . . The greens are in good condition as a result of frequent waterings . . . New England's golf courses have suffered irreparable damages as a result of the drouth.

Relief Pitchers

Dickman and Heving, Red Sox relief pitchers, have pulled many a game out of the fire this year. Joe Cronin needs another relief pitcher for the strain will begin to tell on Dickman and Heving if they have to step in and stop hostile batters every day.

Until the Sox get the hurlers who can go the full distance and win their share of games (like Grove does), they should have more relief pitchers than starting ones.

Random Shots at Target

I HOPE YOU had Like That which paid $50.20 after winning at Rockingham . . . Like That didn't like the track at Suffolk Downs, but the air at Salem, N. H., certainly agrees with him . . . There wasn't anything slow about Slow Motion as he showed the way at Clingendaal.

Gabby Hartnett is fighting with his back to the wall to retain his position as manager of the Cubs . . . Gabby stepped in with an iron hand when he benched Dick Bartell and placed Bobby Mattick, former Milwaukee star, at shortstop . . . Bartell has been going poorly this season . . . He got off to a poor start, and hasn't clicked.

Fighting Fox once more proved a disappointment when he ran out of the money in the one-mile weight-for-age Wilson Stakes at Saratoga . . . On the showing Fighting Fox made in winning the $50,000 Massachusetts Handicap, it was expected that William Woodward's famous thoroughbred would make a stout-hearted bid for first honors at Saratoga . . . George D. Widener's Eight Thirty, which got off to a poor start this year with two losing performances at Jamaica, showed brilliant form in winning the mile event in 1:37 flat . . . Eight Thirty literally ran away from his field which in addition to Fighting Fox included J. H. Louchheim's Pompoon and Louis B. Mayer's Main Man . . . Pompoon finished second and Main Man third.

If the Cardinals are going to trade Joe Medwick, the Bees should try to land the hard-hitting outfielder . . . Medwick is one of the best hitters in the National League, and his batting punch would be of tremendous value to the Bees.

It is apparent Medwick and Manager Jim Blades of the Cards are not in accord, and it is only a matter of time before the hard-hitting outfielder is traded to some other National League club . . . Why not the Bees?

The Cardinals and Cubs are having plenty of internal troubles as they have floundered in the National League flag fight . . . The Reds are a cinch to win the pennant with their present big lead.

Arrest Threat In Breakage Row At Suffolk

clals during a visit to the track that he would seek warrants in East Boston district court tomorrow charging them with larceny by conversion.

His threat came after two officials had refused, not only to cash a ticket on the basis of correctly computed breakage, but to redeem it even at the official price quoted for the bet.

Feeney first conferred with Earl F. Gibson, vice-president, and was told to see the track's attorney.

REFUSED PAYMENT

To the query of a Boston Evening American reporter whether the track would cash a ticket he might tender, Gibson replied:

"Maybe."

W. H. Stevens, assistant treasurer of the Eastern Racing Association, was then appealed to and he likewise refused to make any payment on the ticket, despite Feeney's assertion it was not the disputed ticket on which he won his test case in Supreme Court.

This ticket was a $2 show bet on Clocks in the fifth race of April 30, 1938, for which Feeney claimed he was entitled to $2.50 although the track's official pay off was $2.40.

His test case was won on a $2 show bet on Pharlock in May, 1937, in which he claimed he was entitled to $2.70 although the track paid off $2.60.

Feeney claimed, and was supported by the Supreme Court, that since the horse paid 36 cents to $1 to show, the $2 payoff should have been $2.72 with the track retaining 2 cents in breakage.

DECISION AWAITED

The tracks, however, have contended under such bets that they are entitled to breakage of the dime on each $1 of a bet, which would give them 12 cents in that instance and make the payoff $2.60.

Immediately after the Supreme Court ruling on the question last Friday, Chairman Conners notified the two dog tracks in operation that they should continue the present breakage system until further notice.

Last Monday, according to commission officials, a copy of the court's decision was received at the office.

It was forwarded to Attorney General Dever with a request for an advisory opinion.

Today the commission was reported by Secretary Lawrence Lane as waiting for word from Dever.

$721,786 "BREAKAGE"

Breakage at Massachusetts horse and dog tracks last year amounted to $721,786.

Feeney has contended that the tracks and state, who split the breakage down the middle, were entitled to only $265,578.

The remaining $456,000 should have been returned to the bettors, he insists.

An estimated $1,354,000 has been lost by bettors since the legalization of pari-mutuel betting in the state by the method in vogue for computing breakage.

Casey Club On Home Lot

First and second place clubs in both divisions of the Boston Park League play each other in two feature encounters of four twi games carded.

At Healy Field the Roslindale Town Club will take on Bill Benson's 1938 champion St. Augustine Club and since the St. Alphonsus crew, which shares second position in the East group with Benson's crew was edged in the last inning by the Town Club last night at Pelo, tonight Bill will send Ryan or Walsh to the hill while pilot Strecker of the Townies will assign Healy who beat the Casey Club last Monday.

Dick Casey Club is at home tonight to the Murphy Club of Brighton, the Murphies having slid into second place in the West this week by one point, and in order to retain the preferred spot, the Dial will probably bring Jackowitz to Garvey Field to chuck with Casey's choice lying between Wedemeyer and Cerrone.

St. Catherines won last night at South Boston and tonight Joe McCarthy's club takes on the Navy Yard A. A. at Barry Playground. Goobey or Kelly is slated for the Saints' hill with Musil chucking for the cruiser construction.

Holy Name A. A. will make a bid to return to second place in a game at American Legion Park in East Boston with the Star of the Sea Club.

BEES DUEL CARDS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3—Bill Posedel and Jim Turner were Casey Stengel's pitching choices for the double bill with the Cardinals here this p. m. Lou Warneke and Mort Cooper were the Cards' bill selections.

Manager Casey Stengel was shooting his best against Ray Blade's locals and judging from the spirit of the St. Louis delegation, the Boston pitchers needed to be at their best to stop the Cards.

Manager Blades rules his club with an iron hand as was exemplified when he removed Medwick when the Bees threatened recently. The rest of the squad has taken a beating on this fact and have "put on the battle" in a big way.

The Cards are 10½ games behind the Reds and though they may never catch up with the leaders, have hopes of holding their post

MEDWICK KICKING UP AGAIN

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 3 (AP)—A temperamental outburst by Joe Medwick, when he was removed from the Cardinal lineup for the third straight time, gave support to reports the outfielder was at odds with Manager Ray Blades.

It was the ninth inning. There was a runner on first, two men were out and the Cardinals were leading Boston, 4 to 3. The count on Tony Cuccinello, a long hitter, was two and one.

Suddenly time was called and Lynn King, a speedy youngster, dashed out into left field to replace Medwick.

Medwick promptly threw his glove high into the air, stalked belligerently after it and kicked it viciously before picking it up. He left the field by a wagon gate near the left field line just as Cuccinello ended the game by striking out.

The fiery display by the outfielder indicated there was substance to the shadows in the ...peated talk that he was not satisfied and would be traded. Medwick, the National League's "most valuable player" in 1937, has been the Cardinals' regular left fielder since 1933.

Doctor Advises Diz to Keep Throwing

CHICAGO, Aug. 3 (AP)—Dizzy Dean, who retired from the Chicago Cub-Philadelphia game after he "tried to break off a curve to Mordecai Arnovich and liked to break my arm instead," was feeling better about the whole thing.

Dr. John Davis, club physician, diagnosed it as recurrence of the old ailment as a strained deltoid muscle again, but nothing serious. He advised Diz to keep on throwing for a few days, but not strenuously.

Pelleteri To Quit As Trainer

By the Associated Press

Tony Pelleteri, who has been saddling the gallopers for 20 years, has about decided to give up active training of the horses. He plans to act only as supervisor of his stable, with Burly Parke and Will Wallace doing the actual conditioning.

The stable will be divided, according to present plans, with some of the horses racing in the east and the others in the west and New England.

Like the current major league baseball pennant races, the competition for the nation's jockey honors for 1939 is becoming strictly a fight for second place.

Don Meade, fresh from a successful campaign during the Empire City meeting, is way out in front of all the other little fellows with 168 winners for the year.

Johnny Longden and Johnny Gros are closest but since they have only 149 and 148, respectively, the best they seem able to do is to battle it out for the runner-up spot.

Talk around Saratoga these days is that some of the South American gallopers which have done right well for Charles S. Howard, Bing Crosby and the Luro stables on the Pacific coast may show during the current meeting at the Spa.

Several are headed toward the upstate watering place and it's considered possible such speedsters as Kayak II, Sorteado, Igareti and Ita may parade to the post before the meeting is over.

Each time Fighting Fox goes to the post it becomes more apparent the paying customers should keep their feet in their pockets in the particular race he's in.

For a short time recently, when he broke the track record at Empire and took the $50,000 Massachusetts handicap, it began to look as if the big disappointment of the 38 Kentucky Derby finally had hit his stride. But yesterday, "Mr. Unpredictable" came back to the wars and finished a woeful fourth in the Wilson stakes mile at Saratoga. And the only reason he wasn't worse was because there were only four horses in the field.

G. D. Widener's Eight Thirty took the event by five lengths from the Pompoon and Main Man in the stake record time of 1:37, giving the folks something to think about in the current race for three-year-old honors.

It was the fourth victory in six 1939 outings for the chestnut son of Pilate and showed there may be a galloper or two beside Johnstown and Challedon well up in the three-year-old ratings for the year.

• • •

A couple of riding "triples" went into the books on yesterday's national racing program. At Washington Park, Paul Ryan, 29-year-old Chicago jockey, scored on Chief Onaway in the feature seven furlong fifth race, then went right on to win aboard Crist in the seventh and Wegoway in the eighth. Jan Palumbo, 20-year-old Long Islander, clicked with Paper Girl, Pembroke and Brooke Herod at Bel Air.

One of the year's best investments has been Rough Pass, the By Pass II colt J. Yancey Christmax picked up for $275 at the Maryland Breeders' sales last fall.

The two-year-old Brown turned in his fourth win in six outings yesterday, winning the $2,091 added Maplewood stakes at Rockingham, and already has returned his owner considerably more than ten times his original cost.

DUNN, CANTLIE SURVIVE

MURRAY BAY, Quebec, Aug. 3 (AP)—Tim Dunn of Quebec and G. Cantlie of Montreal, a favored combination, gained the second round of doubles play in the Murray Bay tennis tournament with a 6-3, 6-1 victory over Reg. Fritz, Sr. and Reg. Fritz, Jr., of Boston.

SEEDED PLAYERS BEATEN

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 3 (INS)—The upset dynamite that produced a major explosion in the Meadow Club singles came back with a shattering encore in the doubles' inaugural when Sidney Wood and Joe Hunt, top-seeded pair, were thrown into the discard the first time they went into action.

The favorites were whipped by Norman Bickel and Marvin Wachman, young Chicagoans, 3—6, 6—3, 6—2. They performed with distinction, but Bickel's thunderous service and powerful drives, coupled with Wachman's strategy shoved them into the exits.

The tournament committee came out of its swoon as the second seeded team of Don McNeill and Frankie Parker swept through its first test at the expense of Joe Fishback and Boby Law, 6—3, 6—1.

McNeill and Parker were lucky to take the court at all. For a time the Meadow Club officials considered tossing them out because they refused to compete in the singles.

But the way things stand now, with Wood and Hunt blasted from the tandem competition, McNeill and Parker may prove worth their weight in admission tickets. Particularly if they oppose Bobby Riggs and Elwood Cooke, the Wimbledon kings.

Bickel and Wachman continued their startling climb when they swept into the quarter-final round by trouncing Ladislav Hecht, formerly of Czechoslovakia, and Gilbert Hall, 9—7, 5—7, 6—1.

Chester and William Murphy, brother combination from Chicago, also accounted for a bit of an upset when they eliminated Robert Peacock and Doug Imhoff, of California, 6—3, 4—6, 6—3 to attain the quarter-finals where they will face Bickel and Wachman.

Boast Distance Of Feature Race

Tonight has been designated as the turning point of the year in the New England midget auto racing championship battle, and for that reason the largest crowd of the season is expected to flock to Riverside Park, Medford, for the brilliant speed card which has been arranged.

In order to give the crack drivers every chance, the usual 20-lap feature, which is the only event in which points are counted and the big money race of the night.

Bob King, who has been the leading driver all summer, has been riding in hard luck of late and will have to be at his best if he wants to come through tonight. Incidentally, if King should lose to Anderson, the lead will change hands for the first time because of the fact that Anderson, due to sensational riding all last month, is within grasp of King tonight.

PICK-UP TEAMS TOSS BOMBSHELL IN PAIR SET-UP

SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y., Aug. 3 (AP)—The national and Davis Cup doubles situations were the big talking points at the 49th annual Meadow Club invitation tournament today as a result of the surprises turned in by a pair of "pick-up" teams which didn't figure to go anywhere.

Gene Mako, who has been at somewhat loose ends as a doubles player since Partner Don Budge turned pro, and Gardner Mulloy, the Miami ace, made up one of the pairs.

Norman Bickel, a Chicago University graduate, and Marvin Wachman, a Northwestern alumnus, were the other tandem.

Everyone thought these two teams lacked the necessary experience as partners. But yesterday they won two matches each to waltz into the quarter-finals.

DUST HUNT, WOOD

And, since the national doubles are coming up at Brookline in two weeks, and the Davis Cup just a short time after that, it's going to be mighty hard to laugh off these fellows.

All four have ambitions toward both the forthcoming competitions.

Although Mako and Mulloy are the more illustrious in net circles, the Bickel-Wachman team was the most impressive.

Bickel was supposed to have been paired in this tourney with his western clay court partner, Johnny Abostrom, but the latter was delayed in arriving from Chicago, so Norman went on with Wachman.

The luck of the draw threw them against the top-ranking team, Joe Hunt and Sidney Wood, in the first round, and they trounced the highly regarded pair 3—6, 6—3, 6—2.

Then they went on to whip Ladislav Hecht of Czechoslovakia and the veteran J. Gilbert Hall.

SHOSTROM QUESTION

Today, after those two conquests, Bickel and Wachman are not at all sure they want to split up although they must depend upon the decision of the Chicago Lawn Tennis Association.

The Chicago powers may decree that Bickel continue with Shostrom.

Mulloy and Mako were less impressive despite their two conquests, because neither boasts an effective service. They showed none of the smoothness of Bickel and Wachman.
